

Core brief

Friday, 06 November 2015

Introduction

This issue of Core Brief reminds staff about fraudulent emails and provides links to two NHSGGC press releases.

Email warning

We, and other organisations, are under sustained attack by fraudsters on the Internet. Typically they send emails with attachments that are claimed to be invoices.

All staff are reminded that they should not open any attachments they receive by email from unknown sources as they may infect the computer and our IT systems.

If you have any concerns regarding email attachments, please log these with the IT Service Desk using the icon on your desktop.

Read NHSGGC press releases

Update on increased incidence of Serratia marcescens

Vale of Leven appeal for volunteers

Are your contact details up-to-date? Click here to check