Introduction

Bringing you the latest security information including dealing with bomb threats, packages and vehicle procedures policy; What matters to you? Day on 6 June and calls for Chairman's awards nominations.

Dealing with Bomb Threats, Suspicious Packages and Vehicles Procedure

Bomb threat - would you know what to do? All staff are encouraged to make themselves familiar with the attached policy which provides all the information you need should you be the first contact. Click here to access the policy.

While we are now at a "severe" terror threat level this is still extremely significant and we shouldn't get complacent. Staff are again reminded of the importance of having and wearing their photo ID badges at all times.

Wearing your official ID badge is essential. If you do not have one then you must take urgent action to get one. Click here to fill in the form and get it authorised by your line manager and processed.

Many NHSGGC staff also wear the yellow "Hello my name is" badge... this is not a security ID badge and you are also required to wear the official photo ID identity card.

It is the responsibility of us all to take security seriously. If you have concerns about security risks or how to improve security email: DirectorofCommunications@ggc.scot.nhs.uk and this will be considered and shared with our security/resilience team.

International What Matters to You? Day - 6 June 2017

NHSGGC is encouraging as many people as possible to have a 'What matters to you?' conversation with friends, family or children they are supporting or caring for on Tuesday 6 June.

Our staff are playing a leading role in developing the protocols which provide a consistent and reliable process to guide 'what matters' conversations. Click here to read more about what's happening across the organisation on the 6th.
