

Core brief

Thursday, 19 October 2017

Introduction

This issue brings you details of the public holidays for 2018/19, the dignity at work survey, a first look at the new Greenock Health Centre and details of a Mental Welfare Commission report.

Public Holidays

The NHSGGC public holidays for 2018/19 have now been agreed by the Area Partnership Forum.

Click here to access (please note these are only available on StaffNet).

Dignity at work survey

In November, all NHSScotland employees will be asked to complete a short questionnaire – the Dignity at Work survey.

This gives you the opportunity to tell us how you feel about dignity at work issues. The questions in the survey focus on bullying and harassment; discrimination; racism; abuse and violence from patients and public; resourcing and whistleblowing. Click here to read more.

First look at new Greenock Health Centre

Residents can get their first look at plans for a new health and social care centre in Greenock.

Information sessions have been set up in early November where residents, service users, patients and staff can see the plans. Click here to read more.

More young people getting the mental health support they need

Following the publication of the Mental Welfare Commission Report on mental health support for young people, Stephen McLeod, Head of Specialist Children's Services, said: "This report reflects our commitment to providing treatment in a specialist unit designed to care for children and young people under the age of 18 who need specialist mental health hospital admission. Click here to read more.

Are your contact details up-to-date? Click here to check