

Core brief

Thursday, 19 April 2018

Introduction

This issue brings your next of the West Glasgow MIU and highlight some of our very own NHS heroes.

West Glasgow Minor Injury Unit closes

The West Glasgow Minor Injury Unit (MIU), temporarily re-opened as part of the board's winter plan, will close on Friday, 20 April at 9pm.

Opening the MIU from January to April enabled the Board to provide additional capacity over the peak winter months as well as the Easter holiday weekend where GP surgeries were closed.

The MIU service will now return to the Queen Elizabeth University Hospital from 9am on 21 April.

The MIU is the only service affected at the West Glasgow site. The West Glasgow Ambulatory Care Hospital at Yorkhill will continue to provide a range of local hospital outpatient services including:

- Cardiology
- Dermatology
- Dietetics
- Epilepsy
- Occupational health
- Orthopaedic
- Respiratory testing
- Maternity care
- Children's diabetes service.

You make a real difference

This is the second month of celebrating our NHS heroes in SN which we launched as part of our 70th Anniversary celebrations. Here we have two more examples of the messages and support we received about you!

To read about the heartening experiences of patients at the Victoria Hospital (New) and Royal Hospital for Children, click here.

And if you know of a hero in your workplace then let us know — simply visit:

www.nhsggc.org.uk/patientfeedback