Introduction

This issue brings you news about the flu website and announces two services shortlisted for a Quality and Improvement Award.

Be a flu hero - get your jab!

With less than two weeks to go until our staff flu vaccination programme opens we have made it easy for you to find all the information you need in just one place, simply visit www.nhsggc.org.uk/staffflu

You will find information on where and when our vaccination clinics are being held, how to become a peer immuniser and you can even sign up to the new Flu Bee Game, plus lots more!

This year we're aiming to maximise the flu vaccination uptake amongst all staff and to do this we need you to be a flu hero this winter and do everything you can to keep your patients, colleagues, family and friends safe. If we all work together we can help reduce flu risks for everyone.

So don't delay, visit www.nhsggc.org.uk/staffflu and familiarise yourself with when our mass clinics are visiting your area or find out how you can help and become a peer immuniser.

Shortlist announced for Quality and Improvement Awards

Excellence for QI, in maternity, neonatal and paediatric services

Congratulations go to our neonatal & obstetric departments at the Royal Hospital for Children and Queen Elizabeth University Hospitals who have been shortlisted for a Quality Improvement Award in Maternity. They have been shortlisted for their work on the Warm Bundle; Reducing Hypothermia in Term and Near-Term Infants.

Also shortlisted in this category is the paediatric intensive care unit, Royal Hospital for Children for their work on Move on Ventilators Early (MoVE). Well done to both these services and we look forward to hearing how they do at the Awards ceremony on Tuesday 13 November 2018.
